

Faculty members grab grants for research

Thursday, January 9, 2003

Six faculty members were recently awarded up to $5,000 each in research grants for five projects. The funds will come from external sources. The professors and their projects are:

Dr. Dia Cha, Assistant Professor

Ethnic Studies Program

"Hmong Cultural Materials Collection, Documentary Research Project, Science Museum of Minnesota"

Dr. Jeanne Hites, Professor

Center for Information Media

"Distributed Information Literacy Learning and Critical Thinking"

Dr. Michael Pickle, Assistant Professor

Department of Special Education

"Neural Plasticity and the Reacquisition of Literacy Skills Following Traumatic Brain Injury (Cortical and Subcortical)"

Dr. Heiko Schoenfuss and Dr. Matt Julius, Assistant Professors

Department of Biological Sciences

"Assessing the Ecotoxicology of Ibuprofen, a Common Pharmacological Contaminant, in Two Organismal Bioassays"

Dr. Maureen Tubbiola, Associate Professor

Department of Biological Sciences

"The Effects of Blue Cohosh on Female Reproduction"