

Jun
22

Mayor announces 6 High-Five winners

By Kirsti Marohn
kmarohn@stcloudtimes.com

Six winners will be honored with St. Cloud's 2004 Mayor's High-Five Award, Mayor John Ellenbecker announced Monday.

The awards will be presented Thursday during the WWWFest opening ceremony and Lemonade Concert at St. Cloud State University.

The winners are:

Diversity:

■ Deontee Kofa for her efforts on Today's Women, a mentoring program for women and minority girls.

■ Eva Kritzeck for her work helping Spanish-speaking residents at St. Cloud Area Legal Services.

Extraordinary Community Service — youth:

■ Casey Gustafson, a little brother in the Big Brothers Big Sisters program, for contributing more than 750 hours of volunteer service, including helping people with disabilities and working at the food shelf.

Extraordinary Community Service:

■ Crystal Vogt for her volunteer work on House of Hope, helping to renovate two homes for people moving out of homelessness.

■ Touching Lives Through Technology Center for helping children and adults with disabilities by raising awareness about assistive technology.

■ Larry and Peg Meyer for their volunteer service and financial contributions.