Please join us for the award-winning ARPAC Institute. ARPAC provides intensive training for faculty committed to incorporating anti-racist pedagogy into their courses.

ARPAC engages faculty in an analysis of systemic racism and provides a conceptual framework focused on anti-racist pedagogy for a rigorous and relevant curriculum.

The institute will be led by nationally recognized scholars, Dr. Emily Drew (Willamette University), Dr. Kyoko Kishimoto (St. Cloud State University), and Core Organizer/Trainers from Crossroads Anti-Racism Organizing and Training.

The 2021 Virtual ARPAC offers a new curriculum that is designed specifically for the virtual environment.

This year, we invite teams of 2-5 faculty per institution to apply for one of four cohorts. For more information and application materials for ARPAC, visit the website: stcloudstate.edu/arpac
