 Wars in Iraq and Afghanistan

- September 11, 2001: Terrorist Attacks in New York and D.C. Area
- October 7, 2001: U.S. begins invasion of Afghanistan
- October 7, 2001: U.S. begins invasion of Afghanistan
- May 1, 2003: Saddam Hussein captured by Operation Red Dawn
- December, 2006: Execution of Saddam Hussein
- November, 2008: Iraqi Parliament ratifies security agreement with the US
- August, 2010: President Barack Obama declares end to the 7 year American combat mission in Iraq
- June, 2011: US withdrawal plan of US troops begins
- February, 2014: There are currently 33,600 US troops in Afghanistan
- October, 2005: Iraq's first free election in half a century
- January, 2005: Abu Ghraib torture and prisoner abuse by US soldiers
- October, 2004: The US nation pays tribute to the 2,000 service members killed in Iraq
- March, 2003: U.S. begins invasion of Iraq
- April, 2004: Abu Ghraib torture and prisoner abuse by US soldiers
- December, 2009: An additional of 30,000 US troops sent to Afghanistan, adding up to 71,000.
- February, 2014: There are currently 33,600 US troops in Afghanistan
- February, 2007: US announces the death of Osama bin Laden
- December, 2011: US declared a formal end to their operations in Iraq
- November, 2008: Iraq’s first free election in half a century
- January, 2005: Iraq’s first free election in half a century
- April, 2004: The US nation pays tribute to the 2,000 service members killed in Iraq
- March, 2003: U.S. begins invasion of Iraq
- October, 2001: U.S. begins invasion of Afghanistan
- October, 2001: U.S. begins invasion of Afghanistan
- September 11, 2001: Terrorist Attacks in New York and D.C. Area

