

SHOEMAKER HALL
DEDICATION
PROGRAM

DEDICATION OF SHOEMAKER HALL

Judge Ell Torrance, Presiding

Waite A. Shoemaker,—Friend	Ripley B. Brower
Waite A. Shoemaker,—Teacher	James A. Martin
Waite A. Shoemaker,—Helper	Supt. L. R. Adley
Waite A. Shoemaker,—Seer	Supt. C. G. Schulz
The Name in the Tile	Alice Angell Lamb
The Shoemaker Memorial Fund	Clifford Bemis
Dedication	Judge Ell Torrance
Dr. Shoemaker's Dedication,	Read by Carrie Barden
Normal Song	Written by Dr. Shoemaker

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

When you behold the earth, the sky, the flying cloud,
The pride of man, the worthless wasteful striving of the crowd,

When you admire, and love, and learn to hate,
And struggle 'gainst the earthly thing called fate,
Can you feel certain that the visions which your soul hath seen,

Are counterparts of mine? What does it mean? What does it mean?

What does it mean to live? What does it mean to die?
Why do I ne'er express myself? Heaven knows I often try.

I long to make you understand, I long to have you know,

The real person that I am, the side I cannot show.

Why can't I force the battlement between Your soul and mine? What does it mean? What does it mean?

NORMAL SONG

To the pale, silent moon as she rides in the sky,

A vision of beauty is borne,

By a ribbon of silver unrolled to the sea,

Is a jewel on nature's fair form,

This emblem of youth, of courage, of strength,

'Twas formed for the youth of the land,

May the soul of the Normal be steadfast and true

As the granite rocks on which it stands.

Though in far distant lands we may wander for aye,

May our hearts fondly turn back to thee,

Tho' the head may bend low and be mingled with gray

Fond memory still will be free.

When the road we have trod with laughter and tear,

Is revealed from the hilltops of light,

Through the mists of the distance thy form will appear

A vision, transcendently bright.