

125 - So. Michigan St.
Redlands California
June 28, 1963.

State College Board

Dear Members: You have given me a genuine thrill—a real surprise in naming one of the new buildings on the St. Cloud State College campus for me. It is an honor above all honors I have received, and I wish to express to you my sincere and heartfelt thanks.

My twenty-eight years of work at the college were filled with rich blessings, not in money, but in the opportunity to be with young people through the curricula and help I aimed to give. The friendships with the students and co-workers on the faculty during those years are continuing to be a source of enjoyment in my life here in California where so many have come to follow the sun and easier living.

Minnesota is my home state which I love, and my last journey will take me there where my husband is buried.

Thank you again for the happiness you have given me.

Sincerely

Beth Porter Garvey