LILLIE ALLEN: In celebration of Women's History Month and cultural diversity, Ms. Allen will present and facilitate several workshops at SCSU. Ms. Allen is the founder of the Lillie Allen Institute, Inc., an organization formed to provide multi-faceted programs on understanding and working with diversity. She has been a leader in the National Black Women's Health Project and was a member of the planning committee for the historic First National Conference on Black Women's Health Issues in 1983. Lillie has developed and refined a process that encourages dialogue, analysis of life experience, and transformation of learning into action.

MARCH 20
10:00-5:00 p.m.

"SISTER'S AND ALLIES" This in-depth, participatory workshop creates an environment for dialogue among diverse people and perspectives. Lillie uses a unique process to encourage self-analysis, change and growth, both individually and collectively. Space is limited due to the nature of this workshop. Call the Women's Center at 255-4958 to register.

1:00-3:00 p.m.

"DEVELOPING COMMUNITY SELF-HELP GROUPS"
Featuring her work in the National Black Women's Health Project, Lillie will discuss black women's health issues, community organizing and self-help group models.
