Lani Guinier has been appointed a professor of law at Harvard University, having taught until July 1998 at the University of Pennsylvania Law School. She is a graduate of Radcliffe College and Yale University Law School, and a former civil rights lawyer, serving with the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc., and the U.S. Department of Justice. She has devoted major efforts to rearticulating public discourse in America, including a reemphasis on multiracial citizen problem solving.

Ms. Guinier is the recipient of numerous awards and honorary degrees, and her articles have appeared in national law reviews. She is also the author of The Tyranny of the Majority: Fundamental Fairness in Representative Democracy and co-author with Michelle Fine and Jane Bolin of Becoming Gentlemen: Women, Law Schools, and Institutional Change. Lani’s experience as a Clinton nominee for the position of Assistant Attorney General is outlined in her 1998 personal and political memoir: Lift Every Voice: Turning a Civil Rights Setback into a New Vision of Social Justice.

Join us for an evening with Lani Guinier!

NOT FOR OURSELVES ALONE:
The Story of Elizabeth Cody Stanton
& Susan B. Anthony

In this portrait of two women who transformed a nation, director Ken Burns and co-producer Paul Barnes trace the friendship that brought together one of 19th-century America's most fearless intellectuals and perhaps our most determined social activist. Together they campaigned for half a century to win acceptance of the idea Elizabeth Cody Stanton was the first to proclaim, that "all men and women are created equal."

NOW, IMAGINE THE FUTURE.

FOR WOMEN

AN EXTRAORDINARY CENTURY
NOW, IMAGINE THE FUTURE

Look back over the 20th century and consider how far we've come. Women's accomplishments in the fields of education, medicine, law, business, athletics, arts, entertainment, and politics have had a significant impact on our society.

During the 20th century, women's roles changed from primarily domestic to active participation in public life. As opportunities opened up, women took on new roles, often leading the way in fields that had traditionally been male-dominated. This trend accelerated social and legal changes, elevating the status of women in society.

Celebrate Women's History Month in April.
